NJC Loans Restored

Dr. Bevington Reed, commissioner of the College Coordinating Board, informed Dr. Ben Jones of Navarro Junior College today that NJC is no longer on the list of colleges suspended from participation in the Hazelwood College Student Loan Program since the delinquency rate at NJC has dropped to 8.38 per cent.

This means, Dr. Jones said, that qualified NJC students can again secure state loans for education under this program.

A 'Courtly' Portrait

One of the most impressive sights in Corsicana after dark is the dramatically lighted Navarro County Courthouse. Next to a dark sky, the light accentuates the details of the brick and marble structure, casting off a rosey hue. Designed in Greek-Doric style, the courthouse was built in 1905. All Departments Involved In Upcoming Trash Drive

By BETTY JEAN CLAY
Sun Staff Writer

All departments of Corsicana having vehicular equipment and manpower were called on Wednesday by City Manager Bob Brockman to cooperate in every way possible in the statewide clean-up campaign beginning April 26.

The statewide observance has been tagged "Trash Round Up Week."

"I want all of our men and equipment to help out our sanitation department," Manager Brockman told the April departmental staff meeting Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. "It is going to take a real effort from us, and it's not just Corsicana, it is a countywide and statewide clean-up campaign."

The city manager commended the street department and Superintendent Larry DeMoss for the improved city appearance resulting from the painting of bridge railings all over town and for the continuing clean-up, spruce-up work being carried out at the city's barn and warehouse on S. 12th. He announced he wanted Delma Ware, building inspector, to supervise the installation of sheet metal on the barn's side and roof in making it as waterproof as possible and wanted and expected the cooperation of all working in, and out of the barn, in painting windows and trim.

In line with this clean up, and extra touches to improve city appearance and city services, James Phelps, cemetery and parks superintendent, reported his department had applied weed killer on the park tennis courts and on sidewalks over town, and had installed new restroom facilities in Jester Memorial Park. Sanitation Superintendent Herschel Boyd said his department had completed erecting fences around the landfill east of town which is catching paper and not letting it fly off onto the highway and nearby cotton fields.

Fire Chief Charlie Tieman said he had received printed material he would make available to the news media relative to what house-holders could do in ridding out potential fire hazards in the clean-up drive. Police Chief Doug Hightower reported that since Corsicana began its campaign to rid the city of abandoned "junker" cars, the police department had notified more than 100 people to remove junked vehicles.

"We have moved, or arranged for 68 cars to be picked up and hauled away," Chief Hightower said, adding that he had been advised by one out-of-town man that by private transactions with owners he had hauled off 100 cars, and still another man in this type business had advised police he had removed 14 cars.

"It's slow going, but we are making progress," Chief Hightower stated.

Sanitation Superintendent Boyd reminded the public anew they can help the city and themselves in expediting the removal of grass clippings if they will sack them in plastic bags on the parkways. "Grass clippings can be picked up much faster and easier by the trash truck crews this way," he observed.

Ronnie Slater, head of water collections and accounts, reported that as a result of the "mass collection efforts"

NJC 'Panty Raid' Fails

A threatened "panty raid" on the girls new dormitories at Navarro Junior College after midnight had dissipated by time Asst. Police Chief Don Massey arrived on campus.

Asst. Chief Massey, who works for the college as campus security officer nightly from 7 until 11 p.m., said when he arrived the estimated 30 to 40 participants had left the campus and gone across the highway to an apartment complex.

"They had set fire to some trash barrels and marched around the girls dorms with brooms and mops afire, but made no attempt to enter the dormitories," Massey related Thursday. He said this was the second or third time a group of boys had "cut up" in this fashion, and had called out threats to invade the dorms, which prompted dorm matrons to sound a call for city police. Massey said he and Officer Lewis Palos, who does campus security work for the college during the day, remained on the scene until after 1 a.m. and "nothing ever happened except some of the boys hollered taunts back across the highway."

No arrests were made, and Asst. Chief Massey said police received no complaint calls from tenants of the apartment complex of the boisterous group which broke up.

Lance Rentzel Pleads Guilty

DALLAS (AP)—Lance Rentzel, star flanker of the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, pleaded guilty to a charge of exposing himself to a 10-year-old girl. He was assessed a 5-year probated sentence.

The terms of the probation were that Rentzel receive medical and psychiatric care.

Speaking in a barely audible voice, Rentzel made his guilty plea before Dist. Judge John Mead in a courtroom more than half full of spectators.

The entire procedure took less than 20 minutes.

Rentzel said he will take several weeks to determine his plans but he added, "I promised the team I'll be back and I will."

Speaking to newsmen after being fingerprinted and having his mug shot taken, Rentzel said, "I want to thank the team for standing by me to a man. It was the highlight of my athletic career."

Rentzel said "this has been a very trying situation. I plan to work with the doctor until my problem is resolved. I promise that. I'm sorry my family and my wife, whom i love very much, had to suffer through this."

The shaggy-haired Rentzel, dressed in a black suit, white shirt and striped tie, admitted he exposed himself while sitting in an automobile in University Park, a swank Dallas suburb, last November.

The license number of the car Rentzel was sitting in was jotted down by a neighbor of the girl and the car was traced to Rentzel, police said.

The star's football future with the Cowboys is in doubt. He had placed himself on the inactive list during the Cowboys' final football games last season after he was indicted on the indecent exposure charge on Nov. 30, 1970.

The flanker back has been free under $1,500 bond since Nov. 30.

Nixon Takes Big Gamble

Pullout Announcement

AP News Analysis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon took a major political gamble in making his latest Vietnam troop pullout announcement—but even if it should displease many voters, he still has left himself 11 months of pre-election leeway.

As if thrusting his chin forward, Nixon reminded a nationwide audience Wednesday night that he had pledged during the 1968 campaign "to end American involvement in this war."

Declaring that he is honoring his promise, the chief executive continued: "I expect to be held accountable by the American people if I fail to achieve it."

Right there, if not elsewhere in the 20-minute address, Nixon threw down a challenge to the many Democrats who want his job and to any others who may seek a speedier finale to America's role in Vietnam.

Nixon, in earlier speeches, said much the same thing— about being held to account— but this time his decision to repeat the line seemed more significant if only because the 1972 election is much closer.

In announcing a slight increase in troop withdrawals, an average of 14,200 a month over the current 12,500 figure, from now to Dec 1, Nixon obviously is convinced he has made a good bet. This is underscored by the timing of the event.

Whereas the President had indicated he would make the withdrawal announcement about April 15, he stepped it up about a week. And why?

Well, Congress recessed Wednesday for a long Easter break. That suggests Nixon believes members of the Senate and House will hear a lot of approving statements about his speech from the folks back home. Otherwise he could—and presumably would—have waited until April 15.

Uncertainty about voter reaction therefore makes the Nixon gamble the greater.

So, too, does the fact that he spoke as a new round of antiwar demonstrations is being mounted on a nationwide scale.

Nixon didn't have anything to say about this added hazard to his approach, however. Current withdrawal policy expires May 1 and he had to say something this month if the homeward-bound movement was to continue.

U.S. Casualties Show Increase

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 88 Americans were killed in Indochina last week, the highest weekly toll in nine months.

On the battlefields, waves of U.S. planes attacked North Vietnamese forces besieging a South Vietnamese artillery base in the central highlands near the Laotian-Cambodian border, and Communist forces ambushed a strike force of Cambodian paratroopers on the highway between Phnom Penh and the coast.

Despite the high American death toll last week, tabulations from the U.S. Command showed that the total American battlefields deaths in the first three months of this year were about 50 per cent less than in the same period last year.

Gridiron Star Speaks At Crusade Tonight

A former Texas A&M football star will speak at the James Robison Crusade for Christ tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Tiger Field.

Edd Hargett, former Aggie quarterback and now with the New Orleans Saints professional football team, will tell of his personal experience with Jesus Christ.

Also, recognition will be given to all high school and college athletes at the crusade service.

"Participation from every denomination has been tremendous at the nightly crusade," according to Gerald Williamson, associate pastor of the First Baptist Church. He added, "This is remarkable, considering the weather."

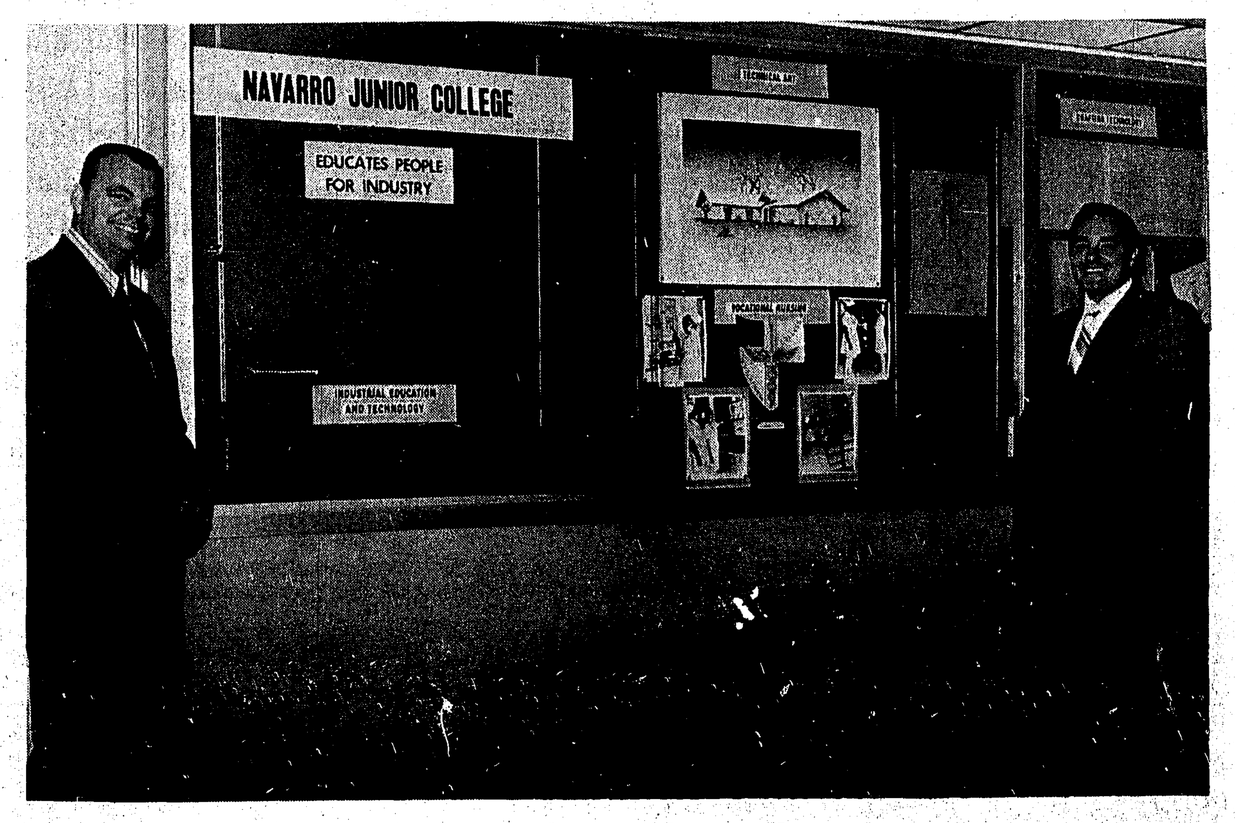

Despite the cold night air, between 1200 and 2500 people have heard the 27 year old Robison speak.

Since the crusade began Sunday, 275 people have given their profession of faith and 150 people have redicated their lives to Jesus Christ according to Gerald Williamson, associate pastor of the First Baptist Church.

He pointed out that 75 per cent of these people are in their late teens.

Joining Robison on the program, is John McKay crusade director who directs the 150 voice choir, comprised of members from 25 Navarro County churches.

On Friday night, the New Hope Singers, a youth group from Plymouth Park Baptist Church in Hurst, will sing.

Decorating the Easter Egg

For centuries, families throughout the world have dabbled in the ancient art of decorating Easter eggs.

But today's designer of Easter eggs may have some new tricks up his sleeve. Easter eggs taste and look best when hard cooked instead of hard boiled. Cooking below the boiling temperature means more tender egg whites, less dark coloring around the yolk and less cracking of shells during cooking.

To hard cook eggs, cover a pan of water and bring it to a boil. Remove from heat, and carefully lower eggs into the boiling water. Let stand for about 20 minutes in the hot water. Immerse cooked eggs immediately in cold water.

To prevent dye from staining the egg white, use eggs that have no cracks, and keep the dye water warmer than the egg. If a warm egg is left in cool water, the dye may seep through the pores of the shell.

When selecting eggs for coloring, check appearance and shell color. Brown shelled eggs color just as well as white shelled ones. Brown shells yield bright, vivid colors; white shells are best for pastels.

Before dyeing, wipe shells thoroughly with a moist cloth, then allow to dry. Eggs that have limy shells will dye with tiny white spots. Eggs dye best when hot, plus hot water dyes are fastest. Prepare dye according to the manufacturer's instructions. Immerse eggs until they become the shade desired. Let eggs dry, then use your imagination.

Hard cooked dyed eggs may be eaten, but within a day or two after they are boiled.

Irish Potatoes

Who put the "Irish" on the potato? This potato got its name in the United States from two sources. One was from the early growing of potatoes by a group of Irish immigrants in New Hampshire around 1719, and later from the famous tragedy of the famine in Ireland in the 1870's.

The potato was brought to England and Ireland from South America by ship owners and returning colonists who were interested in the plants of the New World—but Ireland first realized the potato's economic and nutritional benefits.

In the 1600's, farmers in Ireland quickly recognized that potatoes could be planted and would yield heavy production at a modest price per acre. The potato's usefulness slowly spread throughout Europe, and early Irish immigrants to the New World carried potatoes—as security against an uncertain food supply.

In later years, other travelers brought potatoes to America, but by that time American farmers were developing their own varieties which were hardy and flavorful.

Potatoes still remain an Irish and an American vegetable favorite. They continue to be a priceless food gift to many Europeans who never miss having a potato with each dinner.

There's a plentiful supply of Irish potatoes at your grocers now. You'll also find a good volume of instant mashed and frozen potatoes.

Creamy Potato Salad and Garden Vegetable Tray

6 large potatoes
3 hard-cooked eggs
6 green onions
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon flour
2 tablespoons water
½ teaspoon powdered mustard
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup whipping cream
½ cup mayonnaise

Cook potatoes in jackets until tender, 20 to 30 minutes. Meanwhile, make dressing. Combine sugar, salt, vinegar, flour, water, mustard and beaten egg. Cook over low heat until creamy and thick, stirring frequently. Add butter, whipping cream (not whipped) and mayonnaise.

Blend well and cool. Remove skins from potatoes. Slice potatoes and eggs into large bowl. Cut onions into small pieces, including tops. Add to potatoes. Carefully fold in dressing. Allow to stand in refrigerator at least five hours to blend flavors. Garnish as desired. Serves six to eight.

Dill Potato Salad

2 lbs potatoes, cooked
1-3 cup dill pickles, thinly sliced
¼ cup dill pickle liquid
½ teaspoon salt
Pepper
3 slices bacon, diced
½ cup mayonnaise
3 tablespoons minced onion

Peel and dice cooled potatoes, then combine in bowl with pickles, pickle liquid, salt and pepper. Fry bacon crisp. Drain on paper towels and add 2 tablespoons drippings to potato mixture. Mix in mayonnaise and onion. Chill. Sprinkle bacon over potato sald. Makes six servings.

Fried Sweet-Sour Potatoes:

4 slices bacon
2½ to 3 cups diced raw potatoes
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup water
¼ cup vinegar

Cook bacon in a fry pan until crisp, remove from pan, and chop. Using 2 tbls. of the bacon fat, cook the potatoes over medium heat, without turning, for 15 to 20 minutes, or until they are brown on the bottom. Turn the potatoes with a wide spatula. Add onion and cook for 5 minutes more. Sprinkle sugar and salt over potatoes; add water. Cover and simmer for 15 minutes, or until potatoes are tender. Remove from heat and pour vinegar over potatoes. Cover and let stand for 15 minutes. Add chopped bacon, and reheat. 4 or 5 servings, about ½ cup each.

Avoiding Water Cut-Offs

City Collecting Delinquent Bills

By BETTY JEAN CLAY
Sun Staff Writer

Corsicana has collected $4,500 in delinquent water bills, some overdue up to four months, since a concerted effort was launched Tuesday to either collect or cut off service.

Ronnie Slater, manager of accounts and collections for the water department, said Friday Corsicana had $7,100 in delinquent water bills when the collection drive began Tuesday. From experience, the city has found the most effective way to obtain collection of past due accounts is to notify delinquent water customers that if they don't pay up their water service will be shut off.

Slater said the city sent out notices ot approximately 250 water customers notifying them that Corsicana would begin "cutting off their water on March 26 if they hadn't paid their bill." However, Slater said the city gave the delinquent customers a few days "grace" extra and didn't begin the crackdown until Tuesday when two teams were sent out, men recruited from other municipal departments, to begin turning off water wherever a customer didn't pay up what was owed.

"There is a $2 charge to the customer if he pays the overdue bill at the time the crew goes out to cut off water; if they don't pay then—in full—we cut off the water and we charge $5 to send a man back out to turn the water on again," Slater said.

He said approximately $2,000 of the total $7,100 delinquencies represented cases where it was necessary to cut off water before customers came in to pay the bill and re-connect fee.

"We got approximately 50 more accounts where we will cut off service Monday or Tuesday if past due bills aren't paid by then. We hate to cut anyone off on a Friday leaving them without water over a weekend," said Slater, adding that most people contacted by a collector on Friday makes the effort to pay so service won't be disconnected.

Slater said one factor in such a large number of delinquencies building up was due to a veteran meter reader quitting and a replacement not being found until just this week to go to work next week. Another factor is that some people will "ride" their bill as long as they can and not pay until faced with the threat of a "cut-off" man going to shut off water service.

Slater said being short one of his two-man crew of meter readers, it had become necessary to pull the bill collector off his job to help out as a meter reader. "While he (bill collector) was reading meters he got so far behind in collecting overdue accounts that he couldn't catch up by himself, so we began this concentrated effort to bring our collections up to date by recruiting extra manpower and crews to shut off water where payment had not been made after sending out notices."

Slater said Corsicana sends a "courtesy notice" reminding a customer in arrears that unless payment is made "after we have sent out a second notice on an overdue bill we will have to cut off their water by a certain date." Generally, a water bill is two months in arrears before the courtesy notice is sent out, if a second courtesy notice is sent, and no response is received, crews are dispatched to shut off water or collect on the spot.

Aunt Louise

Have you seen the Light of Peace (Replica) of the world's 13th largest diamond ... 465 carats? It is on display at our local Zale's Jewelers, 206 North Beaton. Mike Killpatrick, manager, cordially invites all of you to come by and get a look see.

The original, owned by Zales Inc., is in the New York office in a safe under lock and key. It was brought by Zales, named The Light Of Peace, and is to be dedicated to Peace. A fund was set up by Zales (with an initial contribution of $250,000) to be awarded to the organization or individual doing the most to promote peace. All proceeds from showing the diamond go into the fund.

From the original stone two 9-carat finished diamonds resulted. The second piece of some 75-carats will be fashioned into four stones of undisclosed shape. The main stone (largest left) will be cut into a large oval shape, which successful will result in the world's largest diamond of that cut.

"Dear Aunt Louise, I'm Don Mershawn's mother-in-law. Enjoyed your story about him last week but more could be added. He received the Bronze Star November 30, 1970 at Ft. Devens, Mass. for meritorious service in Viet Nam.

"I would like to take this opportunity to wish you and your sons and daughter-in-laws peace and tranquility. I, like you, have had lonely, happy, and harrowing times, as all parents do. Grandma Baker used to say about little children "You'd better eat your sweetbread now." My Aunt's favorite saying about them "You're paying for your raising." My husband now says, "They are learning A-B-C. So take care, I remember "Uncle" Gus and have all the calendars with your son's pictures on them.

I know you can't print this but I like your column better than Ann Landers. (I can't??) (I did.) Smile.

Please tell your editor to get some pictures in color of our Blue Bonnetts now in bloom. I cut clippings from your paper and send them to our boys in the service that are so home-sick. Am sure they would appreciate the picture." Signed, Ruth Moore, Blooming Grove.

Thank you for your letter. The word was passed on to our editor and am sure he appreciates your suggestion and will follow through.

Mrs. Annie Hargrove Ford reports that she received many cards after a mention in this column, one from a long time friend who now lives in Downey, California.

Congratulations to Mrs. J. Gee, 1200 North Beaton. She snagged a six pound bass at the Corsicana Lake, Hwy. 31, last Wednesday. Wow!

Good friends Tomie Clemens and James Hunt are having a porch and hall sale today at the Halbert home, 1250 West Third Avenue. Tomie bought the house some time ago and plans to restore it. The home is over a hundred years old so there's no telling what you may find. Do go by and look around. You will be welcome.

Was unable to contact the Louis Kormos family to report on their luck fishing this past week.

The following was found in an old Bible that was contributed to the Mexia State School for their study group held weekly. They returned it to me thinking I might want to use it. The hand writing, yellow with age, was "This is the property of Mayme Moore."

THE SHEPHERD
By Julien C. Hyer
BIBLE-COMFORT

"The spirit of truth will guide you."-John 16:13.

If things are in an awful fix, turn to and read Psalm 46. And when you're tempted to do wrong, Psalm 139 will make you strong. And if you'd know the way to live, 12 Romans will the pattern give. In 5 Matthew hear Christ recount in His great Sermon On The Mount the rules for wholesome Christian living. See 2 Corinthians 9 on giving.

Well, all you kind people who gave Bibles ... what can I say? We ALL received blessings, didn't we?

I finally caught a fish. (See picture on this page.)

Last Saturday, April 3rd was my day off, as I was kinda tired from walking and fighting the wind all week making my usual route ... spring cleaning at night as the children will be home for Easter ... running into all kinds of difficulties as only a housewife can understand, had high plans to sleep late and rest.

What happened?

Very early Saturday morning my good friend and fishing buddy, Dolly Jameson, called and wanted me to go fishing. My excuses: Too tired, had to go vote, shopping to do, wash clothes, etc.. But she finally won and I promised to be ready by 1:00 p.m.

Hurry! Hurry! Arrive home at 1:00 p.m. ... order hamburger and coke to go from the Chuc Wagon ... Dolly loads the truck with fishing gear,lawn chair ... pick up food, hurry to Sparkman's Bait House to get minnows ... and WE ARE ON OUR WAY!

When we arrived at a private lake near Ennis the wind was blowing so hard I could hardly keep my bonnett on. I became disgusted and put my rod and reel back in the truck, got out the lawn chair and a short cane fishing pole, after putting a minnow on the hook I found the calmest spot, sat down to rest and enjoy the sunshine.

That ain't to be! The bass immediately began to strike. Small ones up to pretty good ones. Then WHAM! A big one struck! I struck! Then I noticed a man fishing some twenty yards away and I yelled, "Do you have a net." He replied, "Yes, hold a tight line and don't move." He ran to his truck to get the net (as nervous as me) and netted him in ... a WHOPPER ... WEIGHING SEVEN AND ONE-HALF POUNDS.

The man who came to my rescue was J. A. "Doc" Stout, Route 2, Ennis.

In less than two minutes he hauls in a bass that weighed in at six and one-half pounds.

He said, "Aunt Louise, look what I caught for doing a good deed for you."

"Doc" did not have time to come to the Daily Sun office to have a picture made but I did.

When Dolly and I arrived at the plant only Wilson Griffin, Ellis Slaughter and Lloyd Moore were here. As it was election day they had a hard time finding a camera. Lloyd finally did as you can see.

We then took it by my home to show Mike, Sue and the twin's Uncle Raymond Carroll.

Next to pick up Joe, Dolly's husband, then to Sparkman's Bait to have it weighed again.

No one had the necessary knife, scrapper etc., to clean it so Joe said we'd go to the Western Inn Restaurant and see if "Streetman" had time to clean it.

While waiting in the back alley for him to do the chore for me Jim Stephenson of the P & S Pharmacy came out to close up and lock the gate.

I hollered out for him to come see what I caught ... never saw Jim at a loss for words before. He said, "You mean you caught that on a cane pole sitting in a lawn chair using a "bobber?" "Yep." He said, "I had a fish story for you but now I QUIT." Later Jim said if he had thought in time he would have had him mounted for me. It is expensive you know, but I'm a happy "widder", and it's in my freezer.

Don't feel sorry for Dolly. She has caught fish in Canada, Las Vegas, Mexico, Arizona and California. She is happy for me.

See you Easter Sunday. Thanks to EVERYBODY!

Aunt Louise's Whopper

Aunt Louise Foster, who often writes about fishing and fishermen in her Daily Sun column, proves she knows what she writes about. She holds up a 7½-lb. prize she took on a can pole last weekend. Read her column today to get the details on how she did it. (Photo by Loyd Moore)

Trash Drive

last week in which good cooperation was received from other city personnel Corsicana had achieved collection of $5,500 of the $7,000 in delinquent accounts. Slater said he had a problem in that presently he does not have enough locking mechanisms to put on meters where it has become necessary to shut-off service to effect collection. He cited one instance where it had been necessary to "go back to a house five times" to take steps to disconnect water service, and the delinquent customer had managed to get water turned back on. Manager Brockman directed him to obtain whatever locks he needs to stop this, and pending such time as locking devices are available "to kill water service at the main." The city manager said if it became necessary police action would be taken to prosecute.

City Secretary Nelda Neal advised the departmental meeting the city is preparing and hopes to begin by May 1 handling the municipal payroll by computer through the Corsicana Computer Co. She and Manager Brockman revealed this change had been under consideration before Alton Justiss retired as city secretary and finance director, as a means to save time in the processing of the payroll twice monthly. Corsicana has approximately 200 payroll checks twice monthly and the computerized service is being obtained at a cost of 30 cents per check. Manager Brockman said this is less than it would cost to hire an additional clerk in the office.

Willard Davis, water and sewer plants superintendent, reported that considerable improvement had been made in the treatment process at the disposal plant which had significantly reduced the BOD (biological oxygen demand) and suspended solids parts per million in the discharged effluent and bringing the quality closer in line to state specified minimum standards.

"We are running about 30 parts per million BOI today and no suspended solids today. The chemical we are using now are very helpful in improving our treatment process," Davis reported, adding that a new "de-watering" process just inaugurated is expected to save Corsicana $8,000 annually in chemical costs at the plant.

Corsicana's revived street paving program is progressing with paving completed on two of the three authorized projects contracted to Tom Murphy, City Engineer Jack Matthews reported. He said he soon would have work up on about 10 more blocks of paving in one block units as petitioned by property owners. When he furnishes the cost projections the City Commission can proceed to advertise the public hearing and paving assessment program leading to approval for these streets to be paved.

NAVARRO

Mrs. Arthur Coker and Mrs. Bettie Sanches and children of Corsicana visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy D. Coker.

Terry Scruggs from Edmond, Okla. spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Scruggs.

Aristocratic Artichokes: Another Sign of Spring

By ALICE DENHOFF

IT'S SPRING again and here are the artichokes to prove it! The crop is abundant, which is good, since this versatile green vegetable can be served in many ways — as an appetizer, a salad, or stuffed for a main course.

Seems that some youngsters who usually dislike vegetables, can be induced to pluck the leaves off one by one, dipping the broad end in a simple butter sauce or mayonnaise dressing.

Artichokes are high in nutrition, low in calories—about 51 calories for each bud. Served with a low calorie bottled dressing, the artichoke is ideal calorie-counter fare.

A nice recipe for now is:

ARTICHOKES WITH GARLIC DRESSING

4 to 6 medium artichokes, prepared as directed, and chilled
2 egg yolks
1 large clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
Dash Tabasco
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 cup olive or salad oil

To prepare artichokes, wash them and cut off stems at base; remove small bottom leaves. If desired, trim tips of leaves and cut off about 1 inch from top of artichokes.

Stand artichokes upright in deep saucepan large enough to hold them snugly. Add ¼ teaspoon salt for each artichoke and 2 to 3 inches boiling water. Cover and boil gently 35 to 45 minutes or until base can be pierced easily with a fork. (Add a little more water if needed.) Remove from pan and turn artichokes upside down to drain.

If artichokes are to be stuffed, gently spread leaves and remove choke (thistle portion) from center with metal spoon.

Now, back to the recipe. While artichokes are chilling, beat next 5 ingredients in electric blender until mixture is lemon-colored. Beat in vinegar and lemon juice. Gradually add oil, drop by drop, while beating constantly. If desired, stir in additional vinegar and lemon juice. Cover, chill and serve with chilled artichokes.

ARTICHOKES FLEMISH STYLE

4 medium artichokes
Lemon juice
Boiling salted water
4 egg yolks
1 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Salt and pepper to taste

Wash artichokes. Cut off stems at base and remove 3 or 4 layers of outer leaves. Trim off ½ from top of artichokes and discard. Rub remaining cut surfaces with lemon juice. Place in saucepan with 2 to 3 inches boiling salted water. Cover and cook until tender. Drain thoroughly. Using a metal spoon, remove chokes and discard; slice artichokes.

Beat together egg yolks and cream in stainless steel or glass saucepan. Stir constantly over low heat until sauce thickens slightly. Stir in sliced artichokes and remaining ingredients. Heat to serving temperature; serve at once, garnished with additional parsley. Now there's a fancy vegetable dish! Good, too!

CHILLED artichoke leaves dipped into garlic mayonnaise dressing make an extraordinary appetizer or salad course.

LOBSTER STUFFED ARTICHOKES

½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup flour
1½ teaspoons seasoned salt
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
Dash pepper
2½ cups milk
½ cup dry sherry
3 hard-cooked eggs, diced
2 cups cooked lobster meat, cut in bite-size pieces
6 medium artichokes, prepared as directed, to stuff
Parsley
Lemon slices for garnish
Paprika

Melt butter in saucepan over low heat. Blend in flour; stir until smooth. Remove from heat and stir in next 5 ingredients. Boil sauce 1 minute, stirring constantly. Reduce heat; add eggs and lobster. Cook mixture over low heat until heated through.

Fill artichokes with mixture and sprinkle with paprika. Garnish with parsley and lemon slices.

Makes a fine company luncheon dish for 6.

Macaroni For Easy Dishes

SOME OF the best dishes are the simplest. Their success depends on using the best of ingredients and taking care — but not necessarily a lot of time—in the preparation.

To illustrate this culinary truism, here is a trio of pasta dishes that should please macaroni and noodle enthusiasts and make new friends for perfectly prepared pasta.

A crisp green salad, simply dressed, is always a good escort for a pasta dish. And there you have classic Lenten fare.

SPAGHETTI PARMESAN

3 large garlic cloves, minced
½ cup olive oil
2 tablespoons salt
4 to 6 quarts boiling water
1 pound spaghetti
Freshly grated Parmesan cheese
The less daring may want to use less garlic.

Sauté garlic in olive oil 10 minutes; do not brown. Cover and keep hot.

Meanwhile add salt to rapidly boiling water and gradually add spaghetti so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander, reserving ½ cup spaghetti water. Stir reserved spaghetti water into garlic-oil mixture. (Reheat if necessary). Pour over spaghetti; toss.

Serve with grated cheese and pass the pepper mill.

Next, another simple dish that is surprisingly tasty:

MACARONI IN CREAM

1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
2 cups (8 ounces) elbow macaroni
¼ cup butter or margarine
¾ cup light cream
Salt and pepper to taste

Add salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Melt butter in large saucepan; blend in cream. Add macaroni and toss until thoroughly coated. Season to taste with salt and pepper; cook mixture over low heat until hot.

EGG NOODLES WITH ALMOND BUTTER

½ cup butter
½ cup sliced blanched almonds
1 teaspoon lemon juice
8 ounces egg noodles (about 4 cups)

Melt butter in heavy skillet; add almonds and sauté until almonds are golden brown. Stir in lemon juice.

Cook noodles according to package directions; drain. Toss cooked noodles with almond and butter mixture.

WALNUTS top fluffy frosting for the crowning glory on Walnut Burnt Sugar Cake, new version of an old favorite.

News in a Nutshell for Two Unusual Cakes

A BURNT sugar cake recipe is a collectors' item among great cooks and the special-flavored cake is part of our culinary tradition.

The Diamond Walnut Kitchen has come up with a fresh new version that is a beaut. It has a fork-tender crumb, with plenty of crisp California walnuts punctuating the texture and cornering the fluffy, burnt sugar frosting.

Well, without further palaver, let's bake a fine...

WALNUT BURNT SUGAR CAKE

1½ cups California walnuts
Burnt Sugar Syrup (Recipe below)
½ cup shortening
1½ cups granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
2½ cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup cold water
Fluffy Sugar Frosting (Recipe below)

Chop 1 cup walnuts fine; coarsely chop remaining half cup.

Prepare Burnt Sugar Syrup; allow to cool.

Meanwhile cream shortening, sugar and vanilla together well. Beat in eggs, one at a time; beat until very light and fluffy. Resift flour with baking powder and salt.

Combine cold water with 3 tablespoons of the Burnt Sugar Syrup. Reserve remaining syrup. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with water and syrup mixture, blending well. Stir in finely chopped walnuts.

Turn batter into 2 greased and floured 9-inch layer cake pans. Bake at 350°F. 25 to 30 minutes, or until cake tests done.

Let stand 5 minutes then turn layers out onto wire racks to cool. When cool, put layers together with Fluffy Burnt Sugar Frosting and frost top and sides of cake. Garnish top with a ring of the coarsely chopped walnuts.

Makes one 9-inch cake.

BURNT SUGAR SYRUP

⅔ cup sugar
⅔ cup boiling water

Place sugar in saucepan; stir over moderate heat until sugar melts, and forms a light brown syrup. Add boiling water and cook, stirring often, until the caramel melts and forms a syrup. Boil down to ½ cup.

FLUFFY BURNT SUGAR FROSTING

¾ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup water
½ cup Burnt Sugar Syrup
3 egg whites
Dash salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine first 3 ingredients in saucepan; stir over moderate heat until sugar dissolves. Cover; boil about 5 minutes to dissolve any sugar crystals on sides of kettle. Uncover; boil to 242°F. (Syrup will spin an 8-inch thread when dropped from tip of spoon.)

Beat egg whites with salt until stiff. Slowly pour hot syrup into egg whites while continuing to beat. Beat till stiff enough to hold soft peaks. Stir in vanilla.

WALNUT LEMON CAKE

1 package yellow cake mix
1 cup chopped California walnuts
4 egg whites
Pinch of salt
1 cup sugar
4 egg yolks
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1½ cups whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
24 walnut halves or large pieces

Prepare cake mix according to directions; spoon into 2 greased and floured 9-inch layer cake pans. Sprinkle chopped walnuts evenly over both layers.

Beat egg whites with salt until foamy; add the 1 cup sugar gradually and beat until stiff, but still shiny, peaks form. This should be a hard meringue, not the soft variety as for a pie. Spread evenly over both layers but do not seal to edge of pans. Bake at 350°F. for 35 to 40 minutes (10 minutes more than package directions). Cool in pans on rack 5 minutes, then turn out on rack and complete cooling. Meringue will settle, forming a basket for filling.

Beat egg yolks and salt until thick and lemon-colored. Gradually beat in the ½ cup sugar and continue beating until very thick. Stir in lemon juice and rind. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thick. Cool.

Put layers together with lemon filling. For frosting, whip cream with vanilla until stiff. Spread and swirl over cake. Decorate with walnut halves.

Halibut Makes A Feast

HALIBUT, the real thing, swims in the waters of the North Pacific. Because of its firm flesh, fine flavor and low cholesterol and fat content, halibut is a favored fish choice at home and in restaurants. Of course, there's plain broiled halibut steak, but there are other ways to prepare North Pacific Halibut.

To wind up the Lenten season, here are two halibut and two sauce recipes to add interest and variety to your meals.

Genuine North Pacific halibut is readily available the year around, so any time is the right time for:

GOLDEN HALIBUT FRITTERS

1½ pounds North Pacific halibut, fresh or frozen
1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1¼ teaspoons salt
3 eggs, beaten
1½ cups milk
½ cup finely chopped onion
⅛ cup finely chopped celery
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Tartar Creme
Zingy Red Sauce (Recipes below)

Thaw frozen halibut. Grind fish in a blender or put through a food chopper. Measure 2 cups. Sift next 3 ingredients into a mixing bowl. Add milk, halibut, onion, celery and lemon juice; mix thoroughly. Drop batter by spoonfuls into deep fat heated to 375°F. Fry fritters about 5 minutes, turning once, until golden and done. Drain on absorbent paper. Serves 6.

Serve with:

TARTAR CREME

1 cup dairy sour cream
3 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
½ teaspoon onion salt
½ teaspoon prepared horseradish

Combine all ingredients. If you want something different, there's:

ZINGY RED SAUCE

¼ cup chili sauce
¼ cup catsup
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
5 drops Tabasco sauce

Combine all ingredients. Serve with fritters, as desired.

EASTER EGG CAKE

1 env. Knox Gelatin
½ c cold water
3/4 c fresh lemon juice
grated rind of two large lemons
1rg angel food cake broken into small pieces
1 c heavy cream, whipped & sweetened shredded coconut, tinted pale green
6 eggs, separated
1½ c sugar

Sprinkle gelatin over water & let soften. Blend yolks & 3/4 c sugar. Add lemon juice & rind & cook over simmering water, stirring constantly until medium thick. Remove from heat, add softened gelatin & stir until gel. is dissolved. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Prepare meringue of egg whites & remaining sugar. Fold thickened mixture into meringue, then fold in cake pieces. Pour into 12 c mold. Chil until firm. Before serving, frost with whipped cream & surround with coconut. Makes 12-14 servings.

Corsicana Elects 1st Woman Mayor

By BETTY JEAN CLAY
Sun Staff Writer

City Attorney Don Pevehouse narrowly won re-election to a seventh term Tuesday in one of the closest elections in all races in years as voters chose Charles "Jakie" Pugh their new tax assessor collector, and Banker Bob Scott and P. D. Fullwood their new city commissioners. Mrs. Jack (Sue) Youngblood, running unopposed on the ballot, was named Corsicana's first woman mayor. She had been its first woman commissioner, also.

Slightly more than 35 per cent of the city's qualified voters trooped to the polls Tuesday in one of the heaviest turnouts, percentage-wise, in years. There were a total of 2,998 votes cast.

Of this number, Mrs. Youngblood polled 2,371 votes, the official canvass made Tuesday night by the City Commission showed.

In canvassing returns, the Commission took no note of the write-in votes cast in any of the races.

Pevehouse edged his opponent, Glenn Stewart, assistant district attorney and his opponent once previously 12 years ago, by 59 votes. He tallied 1,482 votes to 1,423 for Stewart. The incumbent carried five of the city's nine voting boxes.

Pugh, a parts salesman for Stewart Motor Company, polled 1,206 votes to lead the field of three candidates vieing for the tax office vacated by Miss Kate Dunn. Running second with 1,150 votes was Mrs. B. J. Acock, a former deputy in the county tax office. Running far behind was James T. Davis who polled 515.

Bob Scott, vice president of State National Bank, led the five-man race for the two seats on the City Commission polling 1,422 votes. Fullwood, rancher and loan company operator, pulled ahead with the final box to be tabulated to edge out incumbent Robert Scott II, Corsicana's first Negro City Commissioner, who was bidding for a second term. Commissioner Ken Stone did not seek re-election to the Commission.

Corsicana banker and new City Commissioner Bob Scott, in New York since yesterday on business for the State National Bank, was contacted today for a statement on the election.

"I would like to thank everyone for their support, and now that the election is over I hope the citizens will unite their efforts to make Corsicana a place that every citizen will be proud to call home," Scott said.

"There is a lot of work to be done, so let's all concentrate our efforts to make Corsicana grow."

Scott first heard of his election last night when he called home to talk to his wife, Ann.

Fullwood garnered 1,324 votes to win out over Robert Scott II who polled 1,234 votes.

Ronald H. Jones received 890 votes and Ray Bass polled 512.

By a margin of 30 votes, Corsicanans in a "straw vote" of public sentiment, indicated they approved the proposition that the city submit a future charter amendment proposition on determining whether Corsicana will elect city commissioners from each of the nine voting precincts. The official canvass showed 1,219 "for" to 1,189 "against" on the sample vote.

When the City Commission placed this proposition on the ballot it specified that it was doing so to "sample" public opinion and would consider submitting the proposition formally in a charter amendment election at some future time if the so-called "straw vote" gave indication the electorate wanted to seriously vote on this issue.

It will now be up to the new City Commission and Mayor Youngblood, once the new official family is organized at the April 20 meeting when those newly elected will be sworn, beginning their two-year terms, what the next step will be.

Upon Mrs. Youngblood, assuming office as mayor, there will then exist a vacancy on the Commission for the final year of her two-year term necessitating the calling of a special election to fill out the balance of the year. Two years ago a similar situation occurred when the Commissioner W. P. Murchison won his narrow victory for mayor over Mrs. Youngblood, and the special election was held June 3 to fill out his unexpired term.

Sanders, Hampel, Fullerton Win

First Black Elected To City School Board

By BILL LAWRENCE
Sun Staff Writer

In the Corsicana Independent School District Board of Trustees election Saturday incumbent Hugh Fullerton, Jr., won a landslide victory and Albert B. Sanders became the first Negro to be elected in the school board's history.

Raymond Hampel, Jr., edged out Leland Cook to win the third place on the board.

In a record turn-out of voters, Fullerton received 1,671 votes, Sanders received 1,158 and Hampel received 1,118 over Cook's 1,102.

The three other candidates, Rev. George S. Willis, Neilan French, and J. W. Albrecht received 582, 480 and 478, respectively.

The totals will not be official until the School Board canvasses the votes. According to Dr. James G. Price, school board president, the votes will be canvassed at 12 noon Monday in the School Administration Building.

Fullerton, who was at the school administration business office as the votes were totaled, said, "I am proud to be re-elected. I will be happy to serve with the new members."

Contacted at his home, Hampel, said, "It is just wonderful. I appreciate everybody's help and support. I'll do my best to serve them in a way they want to be served."

Sanders said, "It is an honor. I am elated over the idea of the service I can give as an individual." He added, "I want to express my appreciation for the faith the people of Corsicana have in me."

Although a record number of votes was cast, school board members did not consider the turnout as heavy as expected.

Dr. James G. Price, president of the school board said, "The turnout is not as big as I expected. I would have thought there would have been more votes cast with seven people in the race."

Robert Gladney, who did not seek re-election, said, "This is the closest race I can remember in the second, third, and fourth places." This was in reference to the close number of votes separating the winners.

The new members will attend their first School Board meeting April 19.
